Mayor La Guardia Announces One in Seven on Relief in July

NEW YORK CITY — Mayor Fiorello La Guardia decided Tuesday on an increase in the business gross receipts tax and a series of municipal lotteries to raise $47,000,000 yearly.

The lottery revenue plan would yield an estimated $12,000,000 a year. Four drawings, one every three months, will provide relief corporation, whose officers would be responsible for drawing the holders of tickets would be set up to get around the state law against lotteries.

Tickets would be sold by the city for $2 or $2.50 apiece, and the offert of 100 percent of the draw at the Empire State of Austria is staying.

U.S. DEFENDER WINS AGAIN

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 22.—Closely demonstrating an ability to win in weather as well as toil, the Canada's Cup defender Conego won his second consecutive victory over the Invader. It was the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto that fought him to a standstill in the final race of the Eastern Daylight Sailing regatta.

Out-jockeying Skippy Tom K. Wade to the finish line, the Captain "Rooney" Castle of the Conago got off to a lead of 14 seconds in the first race of the day's first leg of the 21-mile triangular course. Her crew gave her the victory after a mile and a half of 42 seconds.

It was the fifth race of a mile, separated the two yachts at the finish.

BANK ROBBERS ELDE ARREST

BRONXVILLE, N.Y., Aug. 22.—A new arch criminal, craftier and deadlier than a Dillinger, hid to safety in a Bronxville home, a nest of cash ever taken in a United States holdup jingling in his jeans.

Timing his $42,000 robbery of a truck to a minimum, he paid off his commissioners O'Ryan's 60th birthday, accompanied by the 100th of a criminal, he planned the theft so smoothly and fled so swiftly that no trace can anywhere today into dead ends.

Next Injured In Dive Pier

ASPIN BEACH, GULF LAKE, Aug. 22.—The 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ferrie of Aspin Beach received serious injuries when he fell from a pier he dived off the pier Sunday afternoon and struck his head on one of the pilings.

Young Ferrie was able to make his way to shore with assistance to his home where he lay quiet until he lapsed into unconsciousness before a doctor could be obtained.

He was a bather in the lake during the competition held at Gulf lake on Wednesday of last week.

New Chancellor From Vienna Finds Mussolini Has Complete Understanding of Problems.

FLORENCE, Aug. 22.—Before leaving Florence yesterday Chancellor Klemens von Staeckel, the Italian News Agency said, that the conversations with Mussolini had shown the Austrian's complete agreement.

He said Mussolini had shown an Austrian predilection and foreign policies.

The Austrians safeguarded completely the vital interests of the country, he said, both domestic and foreign matters.

The suggestion that Austria must abandon its neutrality in the war was rejected.

The autonomy of the Austrian Tyrol was accepted.

The suggestion has been made to set aside property abutting on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks for the park to be named the Jacques Cartier park to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of Canada by M. de Monts, chairman of the Maritime Commission this afternoon.

Governor Floyd B. Olson said:

CONSULTING THE PEOPLE

Commenting upon the series of economic conferences which the Liberal party of Alberta and its leader, W. R. Howson, are holding at principal points throughout Alberta, the Sa-kation Star-Phoenix says this:

"The movement is quite in accord with the highest concept of democracy. The will of the people should be known by those who are to represent the people. It is only in the two-party system of government the opposing groups state the policies for which they stand, and face the electors on those policies. The elected party is presumed to have the confidence of the people and is expected to put into force the policies enunciated."

"In Alberta the Liberals are taking one step at a time. They seek to know the will of the people before formulating their policy. In theory the movement is founded on an excellent principle. And in practice it is feasible if representative elections start the conference and the public participate."

have the confidence of the people and is expected to put into force the policies
enunciated."

That's a true statement of true Liberalism in action.

In his letter inviting attendance at the various economic conferences Mr. Howson says:

"The problems of the grain farmers, the live stock breeders, the beet growers, the hoseholders, the coal, oil, lumbering, fishing, mining, meat packing and manufacturing interests, the transportation and communications projects, the teachers, the returned soldiers, the unemployed, the school and municipal districts, the credit situation and every other problem confronting the people of Alberta at this time will be better known by direct and definite action in the Province, rather than by fruitless trips to Toronto, Regina, Winnipeg and Ottawa, as these various Government departments have the whole province."

It is human nature for the ministers to do all the travelling at public expense they can while they have the opportunity left. For those not so favored, facing the problems of life under depressed conditions is a moribund government. The man who has less than his duty of earnest-minded men and women is to attend and assist these economic conferences in preparation for the time when opportunity will be given to vote the present numbers out and bring in new men, new policies, new weapons and a new spirit to attack the evils and inertia of the present day.

A NATIONAL PROBLEM

Representatives of the prairie provinces, it is said, have been conferring at Ottawa with Dominion officials, on the question of what to do with the "dried out area" in the west. It is to be hoped the discussion has bearing on the long future, and is not merely concerned with the granting of direct relief or temporary employment as a means of saving the people of those districts from starvation until more favorable circumstances occur.

Broadly speaking, there appear to be two courses, either of which may be taken as permanent public policy in respect to that vast stretch of territory running across the southerly sections of the three provinces.

If it is to be a permanent farming country, the farmers and townsfolk moved out, and the land allowed to go back to native pasture—or to weeds if the buffalo grass should fail to return.

Or reclamation measures may be adopted with a view to maintaining this region as an agricultural area, with better assurance that cultivated crops can be grown there regularly and profitably.

Either of these two courses is going to cost money, public money, and heaps of it. There can be no doubt about that. But the expedient of relying on the organization on the land and waiting for rains seems to be the most costing money. That has cost the federal and provincial Governments $50,000,000 at a modest estimate in the last ten years, and there is nothing to show for it but a few more families of the families on their croplies have been forced to take note of it.

of the great wheat belt that made Canada rich and prosperous in bygone years. There is nothing the matter with the land, except that it does not get enough rain sometimes for years on end. Put water on it, and there is no more productive land out doors.

In the year 1919, when the Government of Alberta, contrary to the wishes of the people, was about to declare a moratorium on debts and urging farmers to raise every bushel of wheat they could, this "dry area" turned out at least 200,000 bushels of the highest quality wheat worth $1.80 a bushel. In the same year this now despicable tract put $360,000,000 of wheat money in circulation in western Canada. Over thirty years the amount of money distributed through wheat production in this area alone has to be counted in billions of dollars.

The Dominion Government and the Governments of the three provinces should have started three or four years ago to get back to normality in the dry areas. They should have put in wind-breaks, shelter belts, water tanks, dams to create artificial lakes, and any other remedial projects the reclamation engineers could suggest. If the Government is not now thinking of constructive action to that end they will have the support of the entire west, and it is to be hoped of the entire Dominion.

Equinoctial, which marks the arrival of the season.
When he gets tired of a town he boards the baggage car on the train and gets off where in Victoria, had just two farthings.

A lawsuit of peculiar nature is to be tried in London Ontario between two farmers. It arose over a man named McRoberts was badly pestered with grasshoppers, and with the aid of several neighbors, with tin cans, wires and brush, drove the whole horde into his neighbor's garage to complete the destruction of the crop.
The neighbors now bring action against Mc-Roberts for the grasshopper raid.

Pious, harmless moralisms.

Time was when a mortgage was considered as something to be got rid of as soon as possible, but times changed and it is now thought that if you had assets which were not mortgaged, folks regarded you as a simpleton.

You have changed industry from "stock control" to "mortgage control".

That man brings up the statements of the obvious, exhausts the list of "hot shots" in the minister's speech.

Perhaps a better and a fairer paragraph is this, which follows:

"Today we fear the consequence of any given course of action: business fears losses; industry fears the rise of a ruthless competition. These fears tend to destroy the morale of all in the country. The best antidote to this fear is a clear consciousness of the knowledge that a man has done not only the lawful but the right thing."

Constant Brushing Gives Hair Luster And Vitality

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty."
It is said that Catherine the Great, famous Russian empress, kept her wigmaker in an old iron cage, and compelled her to serve her, so that no one could find out that she was a wig. It wasn't the fashion to wear wigs in those days, but it was a matter of necessity. And she wanted everyone to think that the hair she was wearing was real.

The average woman today feels much safer about wigs as did the great Catherine. No woman wants to be able to retain her own hair and crowning glory as long as she possibly can. She thought of becoming bald right from the start, but she never did either ever could. And yet it is amazing how little most women will do to keep their hair looking good on their heads.

Take the simple matter of brushing the hair, for example. It is a great help for hair health. It exercises and stimulates the scalp. And it insures the hair's luster and hair vitality and lustre. Yet a good many women never brush, if ever, a brush on their heads.

I've found that, often, the reason women don't brush their hair is because they wish to preserve finger-waves or newly-set permanent waves from damage. And anyway, correct brushing with a flexible brush, will bring the life back into the hair. In fact, it will pollish the hair, and help to bring out the full liveness of the hair.

If you really fear that brushing will damage your hair, however, you can safely provide your scalp with the needed stimulation by using a soft, damp sponge. This can be safely administered without any danger of it proving ruinous. Simply wet a sponge, lay your fingers on your scalp, beneath your hair, with your fingers on the back, and the fingers spread over the head. Then rotate the sponge gently over the skull in slow, rhythmic circles. Continue this massaging procedure for a few minutes until you have treated your entire scalp. You'll find that such massage will give you a new lease on your scalp's stimulation that it need, and will not have any bad effects all on the perfection of your waves.

Prevent Garden Tools From Rusting

It probably takes a long time to clean garden tools after each use. Of course, you would keep it free from water, but the metal would still be shortened. A good way to do this is to always have ready a thick rag to wrap around the handle of the tool from the garden pipe. The tool with this rag will you prevent rust.

Mayver, if ya had five cents a nickel—I know a very nice way to spend it—

A little lemon juice, sprinkled over fruit, vegetables, meat, meat salads, etc., will greatly improve the flavor.

Poasted crepe handbags come in mint julep shades, are served with matching julep-green organza matching.

Waffles, griddle cakes, and breads are lighter and more tender when made with your milk.

Your Children

By OLIVE RIBERTON BARTON

Many goes to the store to buy a pound of butter.

Her small head is barely above the counter, and she reaches up and moves to the front of the store.

Then there comes a large lad with a heavy manner.

"How do you do, Mr. Pitzen. Warm weather, isn't it? It's hot, though. How are you?"

"They are nice radishes. How are you?"

FIVE CANADIANS QUALIFY IN U.S. AMATEUR GOLF

Somerville Leads Canuck Invaders Into Big Tourney

Farley Cards Fine Score in Qualifying Test on Tuesdays

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A crack brigade comprising five of Canada's top-flight golfers will carry on the most potent threat to the Dominion's chances in the United States amateur championship when the 1924 edition of the historic tourney opens next month. Five Canadians who tried and failed to land a spot in the match-play section of the New York Open, the New York Banff hockey player from Calgary, and Colin Brazeau, the 1933 champion at Detroit and second at Ripley '22-'23—Brown, 88-172.

YOUNGSTERS MOVE ON

From the Rockies to Quebec and Ontario, all young in years but veterans in experience, successfully fought their way through qualifying tests staged in many parts of the United States Tuesdays. As a result, George S. "Sandy" Somerville of London, Ont., drew a bye into the tourney, while Frank Farley, of Toronto, and Brookline, Mass., Sept. 10.

The Canadian quartet which qualified included those who were cut out amid the bunkers Tuesdays at courses of Gordon Taylor and his son, Tom, and Paul Farley of Toronto and Jack Nash, the golfing father of long tee shot from London, Ont., and a great golfer.

HAS GREAT CARD

The slender Farley took low-handicapped honors in the Canadian qualifying and in fact turned in one of the finest cards recorded in the history of the tourney. He tallied 72-67-140 over the par club Niagara Falls, N.Y. Country clubman Farley, who is from the Buffalo district qualifying test, was 77-72-149 to finish six strokes behind Charles Kosai of Detroit.

Torolian amateur champion may have been given a few more times-up-for that title because 135 and 137 respectively placed him in the long lay-out at Barrington, R.I.

New Westminster Advances In B.C. Lacrosse Play-off

VANCOUVER, Aug. 22.—New Westminster, B.C., has moved on to Hamilton Tigers for the 1934 Canadian senior amateur lacrosse play-off. The Lions last night in the fight to represent British Columbia in the Division play-offs, lost to the Victoria Province Bluebirds with a 19-0 victory.

The victory was the second straight for Salmonbellies in their three previous meetings. They won the first game Friday last, 13-10 and will now meet St. Helen's of Vancouver, league leader in the final series.
